EXPERTISE FOCUSED ON INNOVATIVE DELIVERY SYSTEMS

With more than 40 years experience in drug and nutritional product formulation and production management, our highly-skilled Research and Development (R&D) team is dedicated to developing solutions that enhance the delivery system of defined molecules currently available in the global market.

PuraCap scientists are particularly interested in exploring how products that have not yet realized their therapeutic potential may be offered to patients in new options such as different tablets, gel capsules or extended release formulations. PuraCap R&D's gel capsule technology is just one of several innovative modes of medication delivery we utilize to make it easier for patients to consistently comply with prescribed treatment.
